

crown of thorns

Crown of Thorns may have stems that look scary, but the flowers are stunning and enduring. Colors range from red to orange, pink, yellow, and white.

Crown of Thorns need bright light for optimal growth and plant health and prefer full, direct sun. Place in a sunny, south facing window for best results.

Use a sharp, well-drained potting soil such as a Cactus specific mix. Your soil should take up water, but drain and dry quickly.

Water when the soil is mostly dry. Crown of Thorns will tolerate drought.

Fertilize every 2-3 weeks with a cactus specific fertilizer during periods of active growth.

Crown of thorns are easier to handle when held by leafy stems or roots. The sap is poisonous to humans and pets.
